

Self and Collective Care of Youth-serving Adults

January 20, 2016

2:00pm– 3:15pm

Presenter(s): Leora Wolf-Prusan, EdD

Session Description:

Students are at the center of our work. At the same time, adults in our school communities need support in order to show up for the young people they serve. This session will explore how we can create cultures of care not only for youth, but also for the adults who work with them. Participants will gain theoretical frameworks for this conversation, as well as space to share current practices in Oregon that are driving educator health and well-being forward.
