Promoting Self Care and Well-being for Educators Inge Aldersebaes (inge@oeachoice.com) Educators spend half their waking day at work and play a significant role in preparing children and young people to be successful at school and in their lives. An educator's health and well-being is more than a nice-to-have; it's instrumental in creating robust learning environments. Join this interactive session to learn how to nurture your health through collective care.		Ochoco Room	Ochoco Room

What Elementary Principals are Looking for Creighton Helms (creighton_helms@gervais.k12.or.us) Dr. Creighton Helms, Principal of Gervais Elementary School, will provide an honest discussion about what to expect when you interview for your first teaching position and the top-five things to know and expect as a first year elementary teacher.	Columbia A	Columbia A
What Secondary Principals are Looking for Greg Borgerding (borgerding_g@j.lane.edu) Greg Borgerding, Principal of Churchill High School will provide some straight talk about working in a middle or high school environment—he understand the skills and characteristics secondary schools are looking for in a rock star teacher.	Columbia B	Columbia B
OEA – Trauma Informed Practices Leah Starkovich (leah.starkovich@oregoned.org) By understanding how the brain develops and is structured around survival and neural pathways, we can have a better understanding of why some students struggle to conform to school expectations. Participants will learn alternate explanations for student behavior and ways to increase empathy so staff are able to build relationships with students to help them stay regulated and be successful at school. All educators who have worked with challenging behaviors in schools are encouraged to attend this session.		Santiam Room	Columbia B
Disrupted Learning – Let's Get Disruptive Oregon Teacher of the Year Keri Pilgram-Rickor (pilgram_k@4j.lane.edu Twitter: @KeriOTOY19 I'll share my framework for creating dynamic, relevant, engaging, and culturally relevant classrooms. Today's students have changed, yet often times our educational systems have not. Let's explore how to create safe yet challenging spaces that better reflect and honor the diversity of our populations and the complex intersectionality of their cultures through disrupted learning.		Main Room	Main Room
